

Catalin STANCU

Associated Senior Expert at Horvath, Catalin STANCU has more than 25 years within the power & gas industry, holding C-level and Board positions in relevant energy companies. He successfully defined and implemented complex transformational projects with proven expertise in general strategy, redefining operational models, digital strategies, operational excellence, product and business development, development of customer centric programs, integrated performance management, ERP systems or RES generation projects.

As consultant for the last 4 years, he leads energy efficiency, distributed generation market analysis, power forecast, balancing market and renewables projects for large power & gas or utility companies.

He had leading roles in large M&A including the coordination of privatization programs.

Relevant expertise in Green Deal energy related areas, technologies and financing schemes, and in the EU and Romanian power and gas regulatory framework.

Senior expert role in the Romania`s National Hydrogen Strategy

